Churchill Calls Premier and Foreign Minister Into Conference Second Day

FUTURE IS UNCERTAIN

BULLETIN
London, April 28.—(P)—The Polish government in exile appealed today "for the release" of all fighting Polish males now on Soviet soil and in a statement declared "the Polish government and nation have no need to defend themselves from any suggestion of contact or understanding with Hitler."

London, April 28.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill called the Polish premier and foreign minister into conference today for the second day in succession as he devoted practically all his time to an effort to straighten out the diplomatic impasse caused by the rupture of relations between Russia and Poland.

Premier Wladyslaw Sikorski and acting Foreign Minister Count Edward Raczynski were summoned to the prime minister's official residence at No. 10 Downing street, where Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden also was expected to join in the talks.

The likelihood that the Polish government would withdraw its request to the International Red Cross for investigation of the report that the Russians murdered thousands of Polish officers at Smolensk was reported by observers who are following the Polish-Russian dispute closely.

In any event, the Red Cross investigation would not have been conducted because Russia had not joined in requesting it. Under Red Cross rules all interested parties must join in a request.

Every Bond Needed To Put County Over Top in Drive

It's bonds bought, not pledges made, that count in the Second War Loan Drive. Those who have pledged themselves to buy bonds, but have not yet gone to the bank they designated on their pledge to get their bonds, are asked to take care of these pledges promptly.

"We are approaching the deadline," Chairman Mackay said today, "and if Warren county is going to go over the top the way we all want it to, we need every bond. The women workers have done a marvelous job in getting pledges and selling bonds. The War Finance Committee headquarters have also carried through in splendid shape in getting the pledges turned over to the proper banks promptly. Now, it is up to those

Communique Indicates Axis Fighting Desperately to Prevent Being Split in Two

WORLD DEVELOPMENTS

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press War Editor
Allied headquarters announced today that American troops stormed and captured three bitterly defended hills on the road to Bizerte in northern Tunisia while British 1st Army forces attacked a key height at Medjerda village only 21 miles from Tunis, the capital.

With the hour of decision fast approaching, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's command said the Allies made "steady progress" in savage fighting yesterday.

American and French troops punched deeper into both the northern and southern hill barriers of the Tunis-Bizerte zone, and the British 8th Army again surged forward after resting from its whirlwind drive up the coast from the Mareth Line.

Both the German and Italian communiques asserted that repeated Allied attacks, launched with intense artillery fire and strong tank support, failed to dent the Axis defenses, but the Germans stressed the "heavy and embittered fighting."

The British 1st Army had advanced two miles in its thrust to Medjerda village, marking the closest approach to the capital, and was apparently in position for an attack on Tebourba, 18 miles northwest of Tunis.

The communiques indicated that the Germans, fighting desperately to prevent being split into two pockets, were putting up stiffer resistance on the central front guarding the open plain before Tunis.

"Fighting in the Medjerda-Bab sector has been hard, attack being followed by counter-attack, throughout the day," the Allied war bulletin said.

Medjerda-Bab lies 34 miles southwest of Tunis.

In the north, the communiques said, troops of Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton's American 2nd Army Corps again made "good progress" in the hills within 28 miles of the Bizerte naval base. French troops in the same general area were reported within 20 miles of Bizerte, near the western shores of Lake Achkel.

In the south, the French were officially credited with rolling up gains of more than 15 miles in the last three days in the region of Poot Du Fahs, southwestern gateway to Tunis.

U. S. Planes Raid Rangoon

New Delhi, India, April 28.—(P)—United States Liberators delivered another heavy blow at Rangoon, chief port in Japanese-occupied Burma, starting fires and severely damaging warehouses in the vicinity of the central railway station on Monday, a United States army air force communique announced today.

Medium bombers also attacked railway targets in Thazi Junction 70 miles south of Mandalay, and scored hits on the engine sheds, warehouses, freight yards and tracks.

Enemy fighters gave battle on both raids, but were beaten off without an American loss and several of the Japanese planes were damaged in the 40-minute fight which began at Rangoon and extended over the Bay of Bengal.

W.M.C. Shifts All Areas In Pennsylvania

Reshuffling Intended to Speed Up Labor and War Recruiting

WARREN IN NORTHWEST

Philadelphia, April 28.—(P)—A reshuffling of War Manpower Commission areas to "localize responsibility" for getting 450,000 Pennsylvanians into the armed forces and war industry by March 1, 1944, was announced today by Louis B. F. Raycroft, regional WMC director.

The change raises to full area status the former sub-areas of York-Lancaster, Alliquippa-New Castle, Scranton and Reading, and reduces the size of the Philadelphia, Allentown, Erie, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh and Williamsport areas.

The new Castle-Alliquippa office will be located temporarily in Rochester and the Lancaster-York office in York. All other area offices will be in the cities designated.

Sections of the state not included in any of the areas, Raycroft said, will be apportioned among districts over which supervisors chosen from the U. S. employment service will have jurisdiction.

The announcement said directors would seek to marshal "the full resources of the community" in such matters as transportation re-arrangements, housing problems, care of working women's children and "dozens of matters that affect directly or indirectly the production of materials needed for victory."

Among the definition of areas, with labor needs (including selective service) issued by Raycroft, up to March, 1944, is included: Erie: Leo H. Carney, director (formerly acting); Erie county, except southeastern portion east of but not including Union City. Anticipated labor need 9,000.

District supervisors and the local U. S. Employment Service jurisdiction for which they are responsible, include:

Northwest Pennsylvania: Harvey Heintzelman-Corry, Meadville, Oil City, Warren and Sharon.

MANY COMPLAINTS OF CEILING VIOLATIONS

Philadelphia, April 28.—(P)—Raymond F. Ashenfelter, district OPA director, says he has received 1,700 complaints against Philadelphia retailers for ceiling price violations, but that the enforcement department "can't begin to investigate all of them."

"We have only 45 investigators," Ashenfelter said yesterday, "and many of them are tied up with black market charges against wholesalers."

He said he expects retail enforcement to be handled effectively by citizen "price panels" which will be established about May 15 on all city ration boards.

Boy Is Shot During Dimout

Newark, N. J., April 28.—(P)—A 14-year-old boy was shot to death and an air raid warden collapsed and died during last night's practice blackout, New Jersey's second this month.

Arnold Solof, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Solof, Millville, was shot through the chest. Dr. H. G. Miller, Cumberland county physician, listed the death as "accidental."

Solof was with two companions, returning from shooting rats with 22 caliber rifles.

In Atlantic City, Air-Raid Warden William Huegel, 40, died while on duty.

Deputy State Civilian Defense Director Becker Jamieson said the test was "a considerable improvement over the last test, April 9."

MANY TOWNS ARE VISITED BY STORMS

Nearly 2,000 Homes and Many War Plants Damaged by Devastating Winds

RED CROSS IS AIDING

Cleveland, April 28.—(P)—Destruction was reckoned in excess of $1,000,000 today after death-dealing tornadoes slashed through northeastern Ohio, killing four children, injuring more than 150 other persons, and damaging nearly 2,000 homes and several war plants.

Many homes and barns caved in, roofs were carried away like leaves and power lines were thrown out of operation in the Cleveland, Akron and Fremont areas.

The death toll climbed to four as the body of an unidentified man was found under debris of a garage on Cleveland's west side. C. G. Andrus, government meteorologist at Cleveland, said four separate tornadoes swept over the city. Their paths were short and narrow, and their power was concentrated on the east and west sides, he added.

The meteorologist declared the area was fortunate to have escaped without greater loss of life, as the "tornado death-dealing in its intensity."

Two orphans, Richard Paternoster, 12, and Tony Fernbach, 9, were crushed to death as wind demolished a barn near Medina.

Cleveland police described the storm as the worst in the northern Ohio area since the Lorain tornado of June 28, 1924.

Damage to plants of the E. F. Goodrich Co. in Akron will total "between $50,000 and $100,000," a company spokesman announced.

Nursing supervisors and disaster workers are being sent to both Cleveland and Akron. William Carl Hunt, manager of the American Red Cross' eastern area, announced in Washington.

Jail Break Ringleaders Are Out Again

Macon, Ga., April 28.—(P)—It was in jail and out again today for Leland Harvey, 36, and D. C. Black, 32, two of Georgia's will-o'-the-wisp convicts.

The pair, ringleaders in the wholesale escape of 25 prisoners from the big white marble state prison at Reidsville twelve days ago, made another dash for freedom last night from the Bibb county jail where they were lodged after their capture Sunday.

Using a pistol which Jailer T. J. McCommon said was smuggled to them by a negro trusty, the desperadoes pounced on McCommon as he made his rounds to close cells for the night.

Black fired a shot into the floor, slugged McCommon, and then hit Jailer Pete Poland in the stomach with the gun.

At gunpoint, the convicts forced the elevator operator to take them to the jail basement. They dashed out an exit, ran across a street and disappeared into an alley.

In Atlanta, Governor Ellis Arnall said he was "amazed at the ease with which those men got in and out of jail." The governor offered a $250 reward for capture of each man, dead or alive, and said "I hope it is claimed quickly."

Last night's escape was the ninth for Harvey.

HOTEL CONNEAUT HAS SECOND BLAZE TODAY

Conneaut Lake, April 28.—(P)—Fire broke out again today in the Hotel Conneaut—damaged by a $5,000 blaze yesterday—and raged for five hours before it was brought under control by five fire companies.

T. C. Foley, Conneaut Lake park manager, estimated the damage of today's fire at $150,000, and said that the scheduled Saturday opening of the northwestern Pennsylvania resort hotel would be postponed indefinitely.

The fire was discovered at 4 a. m., and burned through 150 of the three-story frame structure's 300 rooms

You're looking at the world's largest coal pile—300,000 tons—at U. S. Steel's Clairton, Pa., works, and you might not think a mine strike would present any immediate problem. But it would, for the plant burns 30,000 tons daily and this is just a 10-day supply.

Soviet Union Says Decisive Battles Near

BY EDDIE GILMORE

Moscow, April 28.—(P)—Izvestia, the official newspaper of the Soviet Union, called on the Red army today to prepare for decisive battles "which are in the offing."

The plea came as the Red air force carried on intensive attacks in force against German communications and maintained its sky superiority over the Kuban region of the Caucasus.

All along the lengthy front, Red air force fighters and bombers pressed their attacks against the German lines and to the rear, indicating they were providing a heavy mauling to German forces being brought up as reserves for future operations.

The current land fight still was mostly artillery dueling.

Heavy shelling was going on from the Kuban Delta, in the Novorossisk region, to the Volkov front southeast of Leningrad.

(The German radio said German Stuka formations caused heavy casualties among Russian columns preparing yesterday to attack the Axis Kuban bridgehead, and that Soviet supply bases on the Sea of Azov coast also were heavily bombed.)

TERRIFIC "SHORTAGE" OF MEATS IN PHILLY

Philadelphia, April 28.—(P)—Three out of four Philadelphia's smaller markets had no meat for sale today, and a "terrific" shortage next week-end was predicted by the retail meat dealers association.

An association spokesman said western packers are refusing to ship meat into southeastern Pennsylvania because, in the absence of livestock ceilings, they are losing up to six cents a pound on all animals slaughtered.

PHILLY BOND SALES

Philadelphia, April 28.—(P)—With $3,500,000 in war bonds purchased yesterday, the city was within seven per cent of its $400,000,000 goal in the second war loan campaign which ends Saturday. The figure for the Third Federal Reserve District, which includes eastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey and Delaware, stood at $642,216,300 out of a $707,000,000 quota.

Eight Dead In Plane Crash

With the U. S. Airforce in the South Pacific, April 18.—(Delayed)—The Flying Fortress co-pilot saluted his commanding officer, Maj. Richard Stepp, of New York City, on Guadalcanal and reported: "Major, we have completed our mission after 66 days."

Sixty-six days of hell were compressed into that sentence by the modest airman, Lieut. Ernest C. Ruiz, of Santa Barbara, Calif.

These segments of an amazing adventure were thus condensed:

A running, bloody battle on Feb. 9 with eight Japanese Zeros . . . Every one of the nine-member crew wounded . . . The bomber badly shot up . . . A forced landing at sea . . . 15 days adrift in rubber rafts . . . provisions exhausted . . . Re-Enactment of Gasoline Tax By Assembly Is Held Up

Administration Forces Still Hopeful Levy Can Be Eliminated

POST-WAR WORK BILL

Harrisburg, April 28.—(P)—Administration forces today held up legislative action on re-enactment of the one cent a gallon emergency gasoline tax, indicating that it may be eliminated.

Abolishing the levy would mean a $17,000,000 biennial saving to Pennsylvania motorists and would bring Governor Martin's tax reduction program to approximately $62,000,000 for the next two years.

Governor Martin several weeks ago said he would wipe out the tax if incoming revenues justified. Only last week, however, he expressed doubt that it would be possible to make the reduction due to the heavy cut in revenues by rationing.

While the senate skipped over the tax measure, the house finally approved a bill proposing a $50,000,000 bond issue for post-war public works. The measure, all (Turn to Page Nine)

Jap Merchant Ship Blasted By U. S. Bomb

By WILLIAM F. BONI

Allied headquarters in Australia, April 28.—(P)—A 4,000-ton Japanese merchant ship was blasted by a 500-pound bomb and a wireless station was destroyed Tuesday as General Douglas MacArthur's heavy and medium bombers took advantage of improved weather to range far over enemy bases.

A Liberator on armed reconnaissance attacked two 4,000-ton vessels in the Arafura Sea 50 miles northwest of Dobo, on the Aro Islands. The American-manned bomber scored a hit on the bow of one ship and two near—perhaps (Turn to Page Nine)

Two more weeks of waiting to repair and replenish supplies.

DISPUTE OVER AGREEMENT IS NEAR CLIMAX

Situation Leads to Talk of Subsequent Pit Operation Behind Bayonet Lines

PRESIDENT MAY ACT

Pittsburgh, April 28.—(P)—Another 10,000 western Pennsylvania soft coal miners—joining the ranks of those declaring they would not work after Friday night unless a contract is signed—went on strike today, raising the area's total to more than 30,000 men out and 57 mines closed.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company's giant Midland Mine, employing 3,550 men, and its Westland pit, employing 539, led the list of newly hit workings. This left the company, the nation's second largest commercial producer, with but two of its 16 mines operating and more than 9,000 of its coal diggers idle.

Washington, April 28.—(P)—The nation's soft coal industry which feeds the fires of war steel production, power generation and ward a war dispute climax today transportation moved swiftly to the threat of a full scale strike and talk of subsequent mine operation behind bayonet lines.

Thousands of miners already had laid down their tools as a three-man War Labor Board panel took up the case in closed hearings, but as yet the widespread walkouts were not officially regarded as strikes.

But John L. Lewis promised that his United Mine Workers would stage an all-out strike at midnight Friday unless their demands were met and the full WLB debated whether that constituted outright defiance calling for action—or whether it should be ignored, pending an actual shutdown.

The panel had received instructions from the board to begin hearings and proceed until further orders before the UMW president announced in New York that the miners would not work without a contract after Friday midnight, when a 30-day temporary continuance expires.

Lewis raised the strike threat after the UMW policy committee demanded withdrawal of the dispute from the WLB, charging the board with "malignant prejudice."

He said that as matters now stand there will be no contract April 30 and "the mine workers will not trespass on mine property in the (Turn to Page Nine)

Hitler Meets With Leader of Croat State

By the Associated Press

The German news agency Transocean declared today in a broadcast dated from Adolf Hitler's headquarters that Hitler conferred yesterday with Dr. Ante Pavelic, leader of the Croat state in occupied Yugoslavia.

The conference was attended also by Joachim Von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister; Dr. Milan Budak, Croat foreign minister; German Field Marshal Keitel; and a General Begic.

The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, said "the Fuehrer had discussions with the Poglavnik (leader) concerning the political and military situation in the common struggle of the Axis against Bolshevism and the British-American plutocracies."

The broadcast asserted that in turn, Pavelic "stressed the determination of the Croat people x x x to employ all their forces for an uncompromising victory of their common enemies."

Pavelic's visit to Hitler was another in the procession of Axis satellite functionaries in recent weeks as the German leaders sought to rally them to greater effort in the war.

Sheffield Man Heads District Rotary Clubs

Allen Scilly, of the Sheffield Rotary Club, was nominated as the new district governor of Rotary's 175th district at the annual conference in a one day session held in Erie Monday. His nomination will be confirmed at the annual convention of Rotary International to be held this summer.

Aside from Past District Governor Robert Miller, of Reading and a former resident of Titusville, Scilly is the youngest district governor to be named to the office.

There was no other candidate. He was introduced to the Rotary assemblage both at the closing session in the afternoon and at the banquet in the Masonic Temple in the evening.

Marienville won the attendance prize, a $50 war bond and Zellenople was second winning a $25 war bond. All of the clubs in the district were well represented with large contingents from Franklin, Warren, Oil City, Meadville, Sharpsburg and other points. The honor won by the Sheffield Club is well merited as it is one of the live wire clubs in the district and during its short life it has accomplished much. The Sheffield organization was sponsored several years ago by the Warren Club, which shares in the reflected honor.

Rent Control Is Taken Off Summer Camp

An amendment to the Maximum Rent Regulations affecting the rental of summer cottages, rooms in summer hotels, and rooming houses in a resort community, has been received by Herman J. Paquin, Area Rent Director of the Jamestown and Warren Defense Rental Areas.

This amendment removes from Rent Control only summer cottages, hotels and rooming houses that are rented only between the period from June 1st to September 30th inclusive, but does not remove from Rent Control those cottages, hotels and rooming houses that had rentals for any period of time commencing November 1, 1942 and ending March 31, 1943.

The purpose of the new amendment is to eliminate from Rent Control property in a strictly summer colony that is not rented for any time of the year except between the period of June 1st to September 30th inclusive.

During the past few days the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on Pennsylvania avenue has been repaired by the placing of a quantity of crushed stone and bituminous top dressing. The crossing was in bad shape from the long hard winter but is now greatly improved.

STORM SWEEP DISTRICT

Rain accompanied by high winds, thunder and lightning swept the district last night. The winds blew almost at gale proportions but no reports of serious damage have been received. The rain fell in large quantities and the river and streams today reflect the heaviness of the outburst of Dame Nature.

RIVER HAS RISEN

The river here has risen about three feet since yesterday and will undoubtedly climb several more as the rainfall comes off the hillsides. At Bradford the heavy rain of last night caused a flash flood which inundated lowlands, lawns and several streets in the Bradford district. The Bradford Era of this morning contained a large amount of matter relative to the flash flood, inability of sewers to carry off the water caused most of the damage.

IMPORTANT MEETINGS

Two important meetings which tie in with the county's war efforts will be held this week by county vocational leaders. At 1:30 p. m. Thursday at the YMCA there will be a food preservation demonstration to which all are invited. With special emphasis on those having Victory Gardens. At ten o'clock Friday morning, county 4-H Club leaders will begin a training meeting at the Hotel Carver, with luncheon at noon for which the Warren County Bankers' Association will be host.

HAD QUIET NIGHT

Warren's police had a quiet night last night. The rain storm with the thunder and lightning drove the small boys in doors and there were no "gangs" on a rampage to give nervous ladies the desire to "call the cops." The imbibers evidently had not the 42 cents to purchase a bottle of apple wine and the disappearance of canned heat led the white liners to quiet the blotters. One record appears on the blotter that sent the police on an angle of mercy. A nurse called the police to go to a doctors office and secure a quantity of medicine and that was done. Otherwise the night was quiet and serene. And visitors at the station heard only the flapping of "big ones" as Lieut. Munn regaled with tales of angling in the waters of the Blue Eye.

ROYAL ARCANUM MEETING

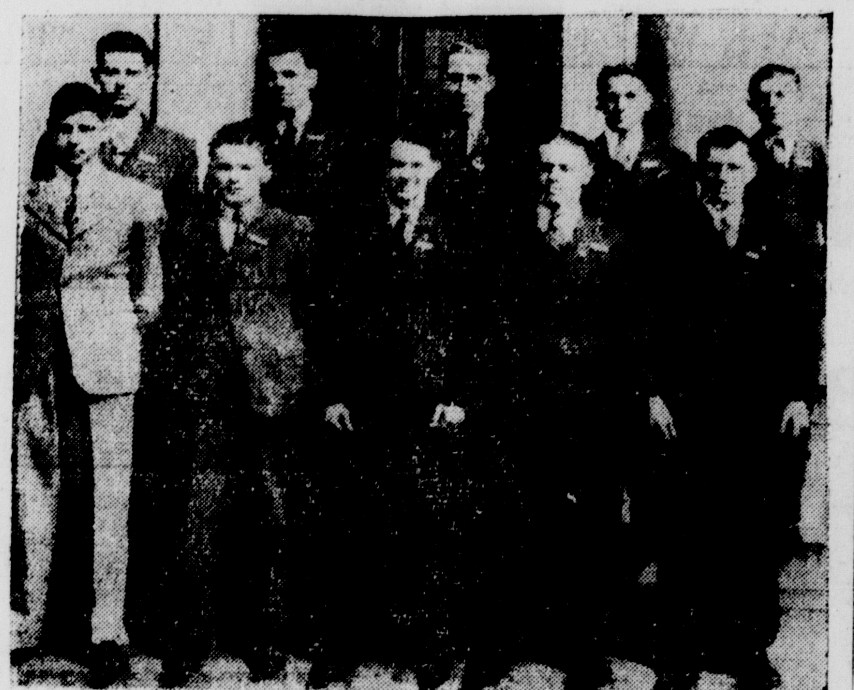

Veterans' night was celebrated by Conewango Council, No. 115, Royal Arcanum, Tuesday evening in S. E. of A. hall. Lapel buttons representing 25 years or more membership were presented 27 veterans, the oldest member being Walter S. Pittman, 47 years. Robert M. Barrett has been a member 46 years. The council also boasts of three fifty-year members, all of whom live at too great distance to be able to attend the meeting. Vice Regent Harold E. Swanson made the presentation speech. Fitting replies were made by many of the veterans. Beautiful colored slide pictures shown by Rush Boyd were much enjoyed. The vets gathered together in small groups and chatted over old times while enjoying light refreshments served by Carl Peel and his committee. There will be initiation at the next meeting.

Civil Air Patrol To Recruit New Members In This Vicinity

Lieutenant Jack Cogswell returned last evening to his post on the Atlantic Coast C. A. P. Coastal Patrol Base to resume his duties as pilot of a patrol bomber. Lieutenant Cogswell related many interesting stories about life in one of the twenty-one Civil Air Patrol Bases that stretch from Bar Harbor, Maine, to Brownsville, Texas, now extended to include South American coasts, where a patrol of the sea is maintained by Civil Air Patrol pilots flying light land planes equipped with bombs for the destruction of enemy submarines.

Cogswell found the local unit of Civil Air Patrol engaged in mapping fields within this area suitable for landing of aircraft as required by national headquarters. Due to the serious inroads made on the personnel of the local squadron by reason of enlistment and draft of its members into the armed forces, the depleted ranks must be refilled.

Any person, male or female, interested in aviation, who knows how to fly or wants to acquire aeronautical knowledge, between the ages of eighteen and forty-five and who is not engaged in some other branch of Civilian Defense may make application for membership in Civil Air Patrol by calling Fred A. Schuler, Squadron Commander at 2165 or Warren M. Stone, adjutant at 785.

Boys Admit Robbery Of Smith - Horton

At a session of court held this morning Judge Allison Wade granted one divorce and heard in juvenile court of the depredations of a number of boys under 18. One of the boys, Lino Rizzardi, 15 had his case taken under advisement by the court after hearing the lad admit to the entering of a house on Pennsylvania avenue, west on two different occasions. The lad also had a police record of stealing from parked cars, etc.

The other case involved three lads who confessed to taking cigarettes, etc., from the Smith-Horton Wholesale Grocery Company. They are Joseph Graziano, Elmer Collins and Adolph Gustafson. The Graziano and Collins lads are now under probation from the U. S. Federal Court at Greenville, N. C., for the theft and interstate transportation of an automobile from Erie to Greenville.

Lieut. M. Evan, of the Warren Police Department testified to the solving of the series of thefts from the Smith-Horton Company and read a statement secured from the Graziano boy. He also had one from the Collins lad but the Gustafson boy, according to Mr. Evan was led into the matter by the other two.

Emmons Jones, manager of the Japanese have a heavy bomber which can fly about 2400 miles without refueling and has a speed of approximately 280 miles an hour.

Charge---to Your Jobs, War Workers!

Volunteers Sought For Blood Bank

Red Cross Headquarters issued an appeal this morning for 80 volunteers for the next visit of the Blood Bank which will be in Warren again on May 17th and 18th. At least this many new donors will be needed to assure a successful two-day visit in May.

Those wishing to volunteer may apply directly to Red Cross Headquarters at 404 Market St., or may fill out an application blank at any of Warren's Drug Stores. New applicants are reminded that the hours will be the same as in the past: from 1 to 4 and from 5 to 7 p. m. The afternoon hours are usually the least crowded and donations for the 1 to 4 o'clock period are especially appreciated.

Chairman M. G. Keller of the Blood Donor Committee stated that those who made donations in January will again be called upon for donations in May but that at least 80 vacancies exist to complete a satisfactory two day schedule of donations.

"Some of those who made donations in January will be called upon in May and the remainder will not be called upon until the time of the June visit," Mr. Keller said. "Consequently it is imperative that we get at least 80 more volunteers for the May visit and we should have these names at once."

It was also announced at Red Cross Headquarters that ice, used to refrigerate shipments of blood to Red Cross Laboratories in Philadelphia, had been donated by the Erie Ice and Fuel Co. This patriotic gesture on the part of this well known local firm is greatly appreciated by officials of the Warren County Chapter.

Local Institutions Will Get Check By State Committee

During the coming summer the North Warren State Hospital and the Warren General Hospital will be visited by the legislators who check the appropriations received by the institutions. The visit will be made at the request of Governor Edward Martin, who is urging all possible means of cutting down the 1945-47 budget.

State Senator Leroy E. Chapman, and Representative Norman Wood heads of the appropriation committees of the Senate and House will start work on the next budget immediately after the adjournment of the session now under way by the State Assembly.

In a dispatch from Harrisburg on the situation the following is carried on the wires of the Associated Press:

"We feel we will be able to save the state considerable money by making an investigation of all institutions to gather ammunition for the time when we call on department heads to justify their budget requests," declared Senator Chapman.

He said the financial situations, maintenance costs and personnel records would be examined at all state-aided hospitals, colleges, sanatoria, historical projects, homes for invalids, children and the aged, and penal institutions. Chapman said committee members living in the vicinity of state-aided institutions would be asked to participate in the examination of nearby projects.

Incidentally, Russell Stoner, secretary to the Senate and House appropriations committees checks the payrolls and cost sheets of all state institutions. A skilled financial expert Mr. Stoner breaks down the costs of the institutions and makes a detailed report on each institution in the state. During the course of a year he visits most of the state operated and state aided institutions and gives a complete picture of the situation in each to the Chairmen of the appropriation committees in the Senate and House are among the most important of all committees. This year for the first time the Senate and House committees are working together with Mr. Stoner functioning for both bodies. Time and money are both saved by this method.

IN DEALING WITH RATS!

(An editorial by S. Burton Heath written for the Times-Mirror and NEA Service)

The first reaction, when President Roosevelt told us that the Japanese had executed some of Jimmy Doolittle's Tokyo bombers, was "an eye for an eye"—let's murder man for man.

But we are civilized from the heart out, and not merely from the skin part way in. We aren't Japs and we aren't Huns. The hysterical demand for revenge in kind left its sponsors feeling a bit ashamed of themselves.

Now we have time to consider more calmly what we should do, and why. With the deepest horror and loathing, in full recognition that the "men" who could do such a thing are not men, but a particularly low form of animal life, we might as well face certain facts.

To execute Jap for Jap, with or without torture, would not bring back to life the heroes who have been murdered in Tokyo, nor would it save the wounds of those who have been tortured but not killed.

To execute Jap for Jap, or ten for one, or to torture all the Japs in our hands with every device ever created by sadists, would not influence the fate of American fighting men who may fall into Nipponese hands in future.

To the Japanese, human life is of no account except as it may contribute to their own welfare. They will use against us our humane instincts, knowing that we will not sink to their level—and not caring particularly whether we do—for once a Jap has been captured, so that he no longer can fight for the Mikado, he is written off the books.

Nobody with influence in Tokyo is interested in anything we might do to those we hold prisoner. If anything, they might rather like to have us get rough. That would give them a new argument why their soldiers should die in their tracks rather than surrender or permit themselves to be taken alive.

Common sense, then, coincides with humanity in forbidding that we debase ourselves even slightly to save our scarified feelings.

So what shall we do? Must we sit supinely and weep? Indeed not.

Let's buy bonds down to the last dollar. Let's produce arms and munitions to the last pound of raw materials. Let's forget our selfish bickerings and lay aside our ideologies and suspend our class warfare.

Let's make Europe the immediate objective, because that probably is the best strategy and, anyway, we're too far committed to shift now. But let's give MacArthur more equipment so that he can start toward Tokyo instead of having to perform daily miracles to keep the Japs from taking Australia.

INDUSTRIAL FURLOUGH

When and if local war workers get away from jobs for a few days' fishing this spring, they can call it a "furlough" instead of a vacation. Edward Dreier, travel editor for Outdoors magazine, suggests the term as being more accurate, since war workers really comprise an army, fighting on the production line for Victory, and as such are entitled to an occasional release from active duty.

In England the industrial furlough has been found to be one solution to the problem of absenteeism. Ten and 12-hour shifts are punishing on the human machine, and occasionally it must be laid up for repairs. A few days or a week in the woods is a time-proven restorative for a tired body or a troubled mind, and the furloughed worker who spends his free time fishing or camping is pretty sure to return to his job rested and 'rarin' to go. So a "furlough" really describes it better than "vacation" and this column would like to see the term in more general use among war workers who are looking to time off this spring.

It is with genuine regret the community learns that Major and Mrs. Walter Daniels, popular couple in charge of local Salvation Army work since last September, are leaving Warren Saturday due to the fact that the Major must enter a hospital for treatment for an old ailment. All join in wishing him speedy recovery and a pleasant summer on his farm at Tonawanda.

If you are seeking really high-class comedy entertainment, don't fail to see "American Passport," being presented Thursday and Friday evening in the high school auditorium by the senior class. Called one of the best patriotic plays of the season, it promises something out of the ordinary in theatrical performances.

A lot of spring cleaning around Warren was prompted by folks seeing the handwriting on the wall.

Babes in the Woods

Washington in Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — On a recent Saturday, while milling among the boys scuttling the free hot dogs and beer at the National Press Club Canteen, I came upon a fellow I had known in Texas. He was a sergeant in the Marines. He had been overseas. He "used to be a newspaperman himself."

We got onto a subject that has been often talked about, but not much by the soldiers themselves. When I asked this chap if I could quote him, he said "Gosh, don't use my name; it might sound maudlin."

The subject was "mail from home."

"THERE'S nothing that gets a soldier down quicker than not hearing from home," he said. "I've seen them and I know. The army knows it too, and APO is doing a whole lot of jobs in getting the mail through to places that up to this war didn't get a mail packet every six months."

"If the boys in my outfit are a fair cross-section, a guy can stand it about a week. Along about the fifth day of no mail from home, he begins to droop and grouse more than usual. In a week or ten days, he's really in the dumps and that's no place for a fighting man. But you ought to see the change of face when the letters roll in."

"I don't know what it is, exactly. Sometimes it's relief at knowing things are all right with the family or the gal. Sometimes, it's assurances of affection from a wife, or sweetheart, or mother. But mostly, I think it's just that reestablishment of contact. It's like thinking you are all alone out in a foxhole at night, under fire, and then discovering your outfit is all around you."

"These marines, soldiers and sailors we are turning out are tough when there's fighting to be done, but when it's over they're just like any other kids."

"Let me tell you about one in my outfit. We had just answered mail call, when all hell started to bust loose up front somewhere and we were ordered into action pronto. The rest of the day the going was pretty thick. The Japs still were breathing in our faces when we dropped back to a ridge to hole up for the night. We hadn't any more than got settled when I noticed that one of my outfit was missing."

"About an hour later, he came scrambling back from the Jap lines. I asked him just where in thunder he had been."

"He said: 'I dropped a letter from Ma out there that I hadn't had time to read. I had to go back and get it.'"

"Say, if you are going to write about this, there's one thing I wish you'd stick in. Soldiers don't like mail from people they don't know. They not only don't like it, it makes them mad. They figure it just takes up space and who cares anyway," he concluded.

So there you are, a fighting man's ideas on mail from home.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Two young former newspapermen and press agents who still think on terms of headlines and advertising catch phrases are having a tremendous lot of fun, making money in habit-forming quantities, and indulging in private, well-bred laughter at the geniuses of the film industry.

The two quiet souls are Bill Pine and Bill Thomas, and they form Paramount's Pine & Thomas production unit. They turn out six regular pictures a year and two or three specials, and they turn 'em out in an up-to-date hurry. You tell them that they don't make the best pictures in Hollywood and they won't argue. They'll just ask you who makes better pictures any quicker or less expensively.

Thomas is an energetic, jerky young man who appears perpetually on the brink of a nervous breakdown, and is the only Hollywood executive who can bustle while standing still. Expounding some of his principles of movie-making, he says:

"Bill Pine and I operate on the principle that making motion pictures is nothing but a practical business. Yes, there are artistic elements, too—perhaps. But essentially it's just a practical business like making shoes, or airplanes or running a restaurant."

"On our budget we can't afford the frills which go along with the million-dollar opuses. We don't need 'em and we don't want 'em. All we want is a good script, a few assorted actors, and the necessary equipment. Then we'll turn out films, and some of them will be good films."

THOMAS always places tongue firmly in cheek when the talk turns to Hollywood geniuses.

"I've often wondered how a man feels when he learns he's a genius and how he makes the discovery," commented Thomas, waving his arms and hopping from one foot to the other. "Does it dawn on him suddenly in the night? Or does he look at himself while shaving and suddenly say 'Old man, you're a genius.' How does he decide it, how does he go about convincing anyone of it?"

About the only thing Pine and Thomas insist on when they start shooting a picture is a "good script." As Thomas puts it: "If you've got a good script, you've got a chance. If you've got a bad script, you haven't a chance."

The two Bills have an unusual way of deciding whether a script is good. It's the influence of their old press agent days, and the test to which they put a screen play is, "Could we write a good advertisement from it?"

If it has the elements of a good ad, according to this line of reasoning, it has the elements of a good film.

THEY adopt the same principle in choosing a title. Like the finished pictures, they're action-packed. Examples are "Forced Landing," "Torpedo Boat," "Power Dive," "I Live on Danger," "Wildcat," "Wrecking Crew," "Submarine Alert," "High Explosive," "Aerial Gunner," and "Torpedo."

Thomas wanted to be sure nobody got the idea they were turning out quickies just because they're turning them out quickly. "They're good enough for the best houses, and they play there," he emphasized. "Also they have action enough for the small town and neighborhood houses, so they play there, too."

"They play everywhere. What more can we ask?"

Contributions Still Coming In To Red Cross Headquarters

While more than a month has elapsed since the close of the National War Fund Drive of the American Red Cross, some contributions are still continuing to trickle into Red Cross Headquarters. It is expected that a final audit of all monies received will bring the total receipts to well over $59,000.

Several clubs and organizations held benefits for the Red Cross War Fund after the drive had officially ended. A substantial sum was turned in recently by Warner Brothers as a result of collections made in their two local theatres in April. Some few contributions have been received by mail since the close of the drive.

War Fund Chairman, Byron W. Knapp, in commenting on these increases expressed again his satisfaction and thanks to all those whose volunteer services made the campaign the success it was.

"As the work of the various divisions is checked and totals reached it is clear the success of the campaign can be attributed to the work of the individual team workers, plus the splendid cooperation evidenced by those in the industrial plants of the county," Mr. Knapp said.

"The final results will no doubt show a higher number of individual contributions to this Red Cross War Fund than have ever been given to a similar campaign of its kind," he added. At the same time Mr. Knapp reminds those who gave $1 or more to the collections that they may secure Red Cross Membership Cards at Red Cross Headquarters, 404 Market street.

Warren National Bank Is Having Anniversary

In connection with the Warren National Bank's 50th anniversary of the opening for business Monday there are two large baskets of beautiful flowers on display in the banking room that are most attractive to the depositors of the bank. These were presented by the Chase National Bank of New York, which is one of the correspondent banks of the Warren National Bank where an account was opened with its predecessor, the Seaboard National Bank of New York City, 50 years ago. The other bouquet is presented by the officers, directors and employees of the Warren Bank and Trust Company, Warren, Pennsylvania. Both of these were highly appreciated by the personnel of the recipient bank.

Bible Supper This Friday At Y. M. C. A.

Last call to all team members! Remember this is your last chance to gather points for your team, and according to all indications both teams are going to need all the points they can get for this Friday's contest. Why? Because this is the last Bible supper at which there will be a quiz. The last Bible supper will be held on May 14, at which time the awards will be made to the winning team and there will be a special program to wind up a very successful season.

As the teams line up this Friday for the last battle, a mere six points separate them. Dick Stone's team is out in front with 195 points, while Johnny Hanna's team is in hot pursuit with 189. At the rate things have been moving, it looks as though "there'll be some changes made!"

The quiz Friday evening will be based on the part of the story of Daniel, beginning at Chapter 7. This will finish the study of the life of that Old Testament hero, as well as close the series of studies the boys have made of four outstanding Biblical heroes.

Boys are reminded that their reservations must be in by Thursday evening, or a place at the supper cannot be guaranteed. To be safe, place your reservation as early as possible. The supper will begin promptly at 6 p. m. The charge is only 25c and you may bring a friend, or friends.

A REPORT TO THE NATION

on General Motors' Production, Employment, Economies and Profits

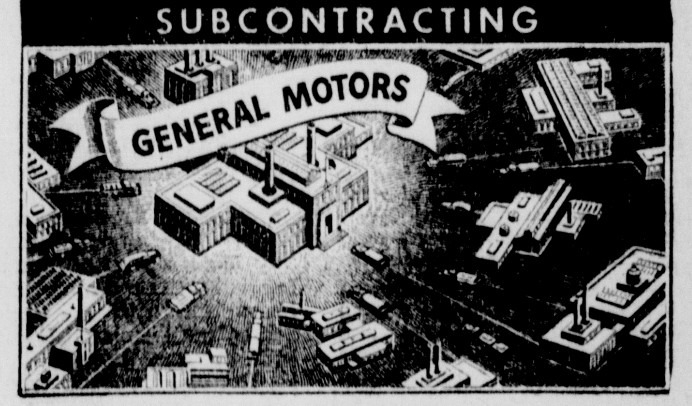

TODAY THE COUNTRY'S LARGEST PRODUCER OF WAR MATERIALS

During 1942 war production in General Motors increased rapidly. Deliveries in the fourth quarter were more than four times those in the fourth quarter of 1941 and were at an annual rate of more than three billion dollars. In reality, war production increased far more rapidly than dollar value indicates—thanks to decrease in cost of manufacture. General Motors' interests and energies are concentrated on speeding war production.

THROUGH BATTLE TESTS WITH FLYING COLORS—THE WORLD AROUND

General Motors' war products are now being used by both the Army and Navy on battlefronts all over the globe. Reports of their effectiveness—and, in many cases, of decided superiority over enemy equipment—are evidence of the quality materials and precision workmanship going into their manufacture. The great variety of equipment furnished is indicated below—and there are additional secret weapons which cannot be listed.

THOUSANDS OF SUBCONTRACTORS AND SUPPLIERS ASSIST GENERAL MOTORS

Continuing peacetime practices, thousands of subcontractors and suppliers—companies which have demonstrated production efficiency and ability to maintain quality—have been utilized by General Motors. This practice has resulted in the spread of approximately one-half of General Motors' war work to outside firms. Thousands of these subcontractors and suppliers are firms employing 100 people or less.

ENGINEERING AND PRODUCTION KNOWLEDGE PRODUCES RESULTS

The experience gained by General Motors over the years has proved of immense value in war work. This "Know-How" in the fields of engineering and manufacture has made possible quick conversion to war production, and resulted in simplification of design, improvement of quality and reduction in cost. This not only speeded up the work and got the job done, but saved manpower and millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money.

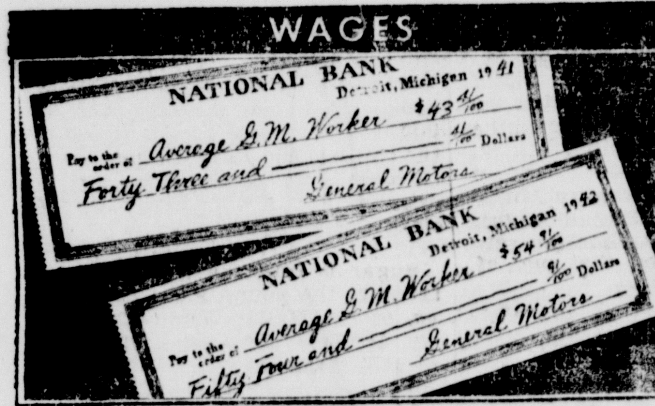

EMPLOYMENT FIGURES HAVE MOUNTED TO AN ALL-TIME HIGH

Although more than 50,000 G.M. people have joined the armed forces, employment in the U.S. and Canada rose to 370,000 in 1942—an all-time high. This increase involved great problems in training personnel. Hours worked increased to an average of 45.5 hours per week, compared to 40.7 hours in 1941. General Motors' employment is spread through 107 plants in the U.S. in 46 communities in 13 states—and five plants in Canada.

TECHNICAL TRAINING AND FIELD SERVICE TO ASSIST THE ARMED FORCES

General Motors' training schools for technicians of the armed services have graduated more than 11,000 men—will train approximately 40,000 in 1943. Parts schedules have also been established, and maintenance units set up in combat areas. Technical observers are stationed at battlefronts, so that our engineers and mechanics, cooperating with the armed forces, can more rapidly improve the military effectiveness of weapons.

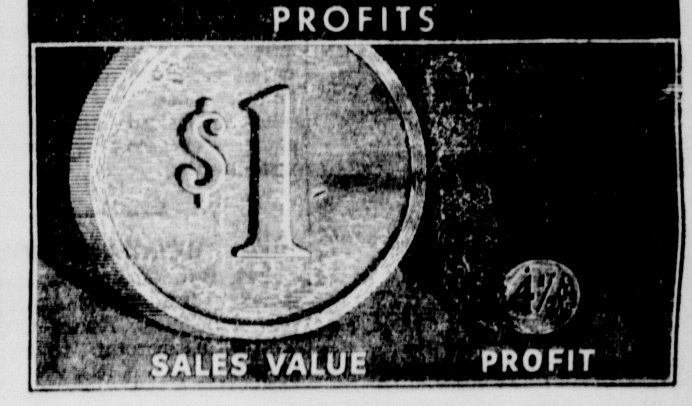

WAGES REACH A NEW PEAK AS RATES AND HOURS INCREASE

Along with increased employment and working hours, wages have risen substantially. Hourly workers, who averaged $43.41 weekly in 1941, averaged $54.91 in 1942—an increase of 26%. The payroll for both salaried and hourly rate employees in 1942 was $589,314,052. G.M. paid $259,321 to employees for suggestions furthering the war effort. More than $7,000,000 was paid to employees through group insurance.

SAVING MILLIONS OF DOLLARS FOR UNCLE SAM—AND YOU

As a result of the industrial "Know-How" reviewed above, manufacturing costs were reduced that, by the end of 1942, more than $177,000,000 had been voluntarily returned to the government in price reductions, and there will be an additional $183,000,000 in price reductions which will apply to subsequent deliveries under existing contracts.

GENERAL MOTORS' PROFITS WERE LOWER IN 1942

The General Motors policy of limiting its rate of profits, before taxes, on its manufacturing business to about half of 1941 resulted in a net income from manufacturing of 4.3% of total sales. Common stock dividends were $2 per share in 1942, as compared with $3.75 per share in 1941.

AIR SPEED KING PLANS POST-WAR FLIGHT RULES

Pointing to network of existing and projected future airways, Colonel Roscoe Turner, only three-time winner of Thompson Trophy Races, now training pilots for Uncle Sam, endorses broad federal regulation of flight. Col. Turner—who 10 years ago flew coast-to-coast in record time of 11 hours 30 minutes—says terrific speeds of modern aircraft mean passage over many states in but a few minutes, making mandatory "federal control of air flight as against state jurisdiction." As Vice-President of National Aviation Training Association, Col. Turner recently appeared before Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of U. S. House of Representatives and endorsed that Committee's Bill covering this subject and post-war aviation planning.

Both Food and Beauty In Lima Bean Vines

Heavy Yielding Pole Lima Beans Make Fine Garden Screen.

If your Victory garden has a wire or picket fence, it will provide an ideal support for pole lima beans. The rich green leaves of this vegetable will provide a beautiful background for your garden and they will bear a bountiful crop of luxury food in the late summer and fall.

Lima beans are the richest of green vegetables in vitamin B1. They are delicious when green, and if you have a surplus toward the end of the season, they can be allowed to mature and will keep through the winter.

Lima beans should never be planted before the ground warms up; they will decay without sprouting in cold soil. The seeds are so large they are easily spaced, and facilitate quick growth. Otherwise they must turn underground in order to grow, and some of them may not make it.

Bush limas do not bear well if crowded in the row. Plant them at least 18 inches apart. The pole limas may be a little closer, say 12 inches. All need plenty of food; a teaspoonful of balanced plant food mixed with the soil in each hill will insure this.

Bush limas are of two classes, large and small seeded; the former bearing larger beans, but fewer of them. The small seeded limas have been improved recently, and new varieties have larger beans, while still producing them abundantly. For the home garden, it is best to consult your preference.

Small seeded bush limas mature in about 65 days, large seeded bush and pole limas in about 80 days. As they cannot be sown until late spring in most states, the harvest comes late. Pole limas have a long season of yield, and will provide beans for the table until frost kills the vines.

Blue Stocking Club Re-elects Officers; Plans For the Future

Meeting at the YWCA activities building Tuesday afternoon for their annual luncheon and business session, members of the Blue Stocking Club re-elected Miss Ethel Morris to the office of president for another term.

Other officers, all re-elected, were: First vice president, Mrs. C. Vance Weld; second vice president, Mrs. W. E. Lutz; secretary, Mrs. Norbert Peterson; assistant secretary, Mrs. A. C. Filck, Jr.; treasurer, Mrs. Brackett Ayers.

The business meeting, conducted by Miss Morris, followed luncheon served in the dining room to members and guests. Spring flowers were used in an attractive center for the long table.

Routine reports were given by Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Ayers and, following her reelection, Miss Morris expressed her sincere appreciation for cooperation extended her by her members and committees, mentioning especially the work of the program and press committees.

A discussion followed concerning program plans for next season. In this connection an das a follow-up to a paper presented before a recent meeting, Mrs. W. E. Lutz reviewed an article by Sumner Welles in the March issue of the Atlantic Monthly concerning trade agreements.

Mrs. Weld brought before the membership advisability of trying to arrange a spring meeting of the Warren County Federation, of which she is president, and food and transportation difficulties were discussed. It seemed likely that no May meeting would be scheduled for this spring, although definite announcement was left until later.

To conclude, Miss Morris read from a federation publication an article on "Courageously Forward" by Mrs. Perry, district vice president.

JUST 17 NAMES? Far from it! To the men who worked with them at The Hammond Iron Works before they joined the service of their Country, they're 17 swell fellows. If a fellow-worker's good wishes for their safe return can bring them back, they need not worry!

JUST 17 NAMES? No indeed! To the mothers, wives, sweethearts and sisters they left behind they're more than words can express. If prayers can bring them back safely, they need not fear!

JUST 17 NAMES? To YOU—to me? Hardly! They're 17 of the over 2,000 Warren County men in service. These men—all of them—have our good wishes—have our prayers—what they NEED is our dollars put into War Bonds to buy them the weapons needed for Victory!

Athletics Win 16-Inning Marathon With the Senators

Newcomers Fail To Get Their Share of Glory In Opening Day Contests In the Majors

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball is having plenty of woes—the dead ball, poor attendance and the constant drain of the draft—but if you will wipe away this wartime tarnish for a few minutes you will discover a lot of lustre among the unsung rookies of the major leagues.

The early season has been occupied chiefly with a discussion of the game's disappointments and a place at the proceedings yesterday will explain easily why this has left the newcomers obscured. They don't come under the heading of disappointments.

Tuesday's tightest struggle was a 16-inning marathon which the Philadelphia Athletics finally won from the Washington Senators 2-1 after both teams had gone scoreless for 15 frames. The star was Jesse Sandoval Flores, a stocky, 26-year-old Mexican who came up to the A's this spring from Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League.

In his first start last Thursday he held the Boston Red Sox to two hits but was beaten 1-0 by Tex Hughson, who pitched a three-hitter in rebuttal. Yesterday Flores was matched with Early Wynn in a pitching duel that was a classic, even if you discount the Balata error.

Wynn was removed for a pinch-hitter in the 13th, but Flores continued till two were out in the 16th, when he finally had to have help from Roger Wolff. However, the A's had clipped Ray Scarborough for two runs in the mean-

Ocean Wave Easy Winner In Trial Mile

Louisville, Ky., April 28—(P)—A number of the neighbors' children were agreed definitely today that while the Wave may not sink the fleet in Saturday's 69th Kentucky Derby, he's going to make it keep up a full head of steam to reach port in front.

Count Fleet is still head man of the nine definite and two possible starters for the $75,000 stake, but Ocean Wave looked good when he cake-walked home with the derby trial mile yesterday by nine lengths over a dozen other derby eligibles.

In spite of the cracked heel with which he came out of the race—an injury Trainer Ben Jones tossed off as "nothing much at all"—the horse set have changed its argument from "who's going to chase the Fleet home" to "Ocean Wave might grab it all."

The count, however, didn't do a bit of harm to his position as a favorite yesterday when he splashed through a mile-and-a-quarter in 2:07, with his regular jockey Johnny Longden just sitting aboard and grabbing a handful of hair. The Wave rolled through the trial mile in 1:38 1/5.

Lombardi Is A Giant Now

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
New York, April 28—(P)—Although it has taken him 12 major league seasons to do it, slow-moving Ernie Lombardi now is a resident of the baseball park tailored to fit his batting.

The big catcher, a powerful right-handed hitter to left field, was traded to the New York Giants by the Boston Braves last night and now will aim at the nearest target for an orthodox batter in the major leagues.

He cracked 20 home runs while with the Cincinnati Reds in 1939 where the left field foul line ambles on for 328 feet and he basted 11 last year with the Braves where the fence is 340 feet from home plate. But at the Polo Grounds, his new home, the barrier is only 278 feet away.

Below are the words of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, our Commander-in-Chief, in telling us of the hideous slaughter of our aviators by the Tokyo war lords. You can express your personal determination to avenge our murdered flyers by buying more War Bonds today. They gave their lives. You lend your money.

"It is with a feeling of deepest horror which I know will be shared by all civilized peoples, that I have to announce the barbarous execution by the Japanese government of some of the members of the armed forces who fell into Japanese hands as an incident of warfare.

"This recourse by our enemy to frightfulness is barbarous. The effort of the Japanese war lords thus to intimidate us will utterly fail. It will make the American people more determined than ever to blot out the shameless militarism of Japan."

Chapter 21

THE NIGHT was getting on to being pretty near morning and why a woman should be abroad at such an hour was neither clear nor understandable, but as Tubac was passing the mouth of Boggs' Alley, a scream brought his horse up sharply.

Then the scream came again. Tubac came out of the saddle with a sixgun in hand. The scream had come from the alley and Tubac went plunging into it.

Muzzle flame spurted from the gloom and lead whirled above Tubac's head.

He drove two swift shots at the flash and jumped to the left to flatten swiftly against the wall; he stood, breath held, listening. He concluded finally that the fellow had slipped away from him.

Still, you never could tell; so he stayed where he was for another five or ten heartbeats while his narrowed stare searched the darkness. Then, easing the cramp from his muscles, he took a forward, investigating step. Took another. Took a third—and dropped flat as the hidden man's gun belched flame again.

Flat on his belly Jones loosed three shots; and through their din he caught the diminishing clatter of the fellow's departure.

With a disgusted oath Jones jumped to his feet. He got a match from his hatband and struck it.

The flame in that inclosed space showed a crumpled form. A woman's. Face down she lay, not ten feet away. Hoisting his gun he hurried forward, hands cupping the match. Reaching her he dropped the match and turned her over. Then, cautiously lifting her to a sitting posture, he got a knee braced behind her back and struck another match.

A ST. RTLED oath burst out of him and he almost dropped the match from his hand. It was Sue.

Her eyes were closed, and Jones in a panic thought she must be dead—thought perhaps he, himself, had killed her with one of the shots he had fired at her assailant. With the match gone out he was stooping to lift her when something hard bowed into his back and a cold voice told him gratingly:

"Reach—me! reach quick!"

Tubac reached—but not for the stars.

Tubac spun on his boot heels, and his grabbing right caught the sheriff's gun by the barrel. It blazed, but the slug tore into the ground, and with a sudden swift twist Jones had the gun away from him. In the next split second the butt of it took Sheriff Ike Shallet square in the face and, with a wheezy sigh, he came down like an empty tent.

Jones didn't stop to commiserate. Heaving the sheriff's gun away, he caught the swooned girl in both arms and bolted.

He was breathing hard as he came out into the street again, not twenty yards from the front of the bank. She came to just as he reached it and with a moan blinked open her eyes.

"Oh—Tubac!" she cried, and hugged him tight. He got loose of her clutch and grabbed for his breath while he took a quick squint at the chances.

One thing was certain. Shallet had most likely recognized him and quick as he got woke up to his hurts there was going to be (hell to pay proper! He would be numbered with the loafer wolves now and be any man's meat for the shooting. It would be "Git Jones!" and no holds barred! It was high time to shift his picket pin; and he sure would have done it, right then and there—the Hole-man place notwithstanding, only Sue caught his arm with great urgency and, hysterical, half sobbing with fright and shaking like a leaf she cried:

"Oh, Tubac! He has found me out! What shall I do? What can I do? He was afraid! He—he says I must marry that terrible Carlin!"

"Hey—what up! Lemme get this straight," growled Tubac, unwrapping her arms from about his neck, his glance stabbing the shadows nervously. "Who's found you out, an' what's he found—an' why all the—"

"Oh! But you don't understand!" she wailed. "It's horrible—it's just too vicious for words! He came in and found me writing my attorney and—"

"Hey! Haul up! I can't make heads or tails of this rigamarole! Who found what an'—"

"Oh! Of course! He came up to my room at the Breyer place—all the Breyers have gone off to Flagstaff— Anyway, he came straight in without so much as a knock, and the first thing I knew, there he was right behind me, reading my letter and—"

"Now look," Jones said, catching hold of her shoulder and shaking her. "I judge you're in some kind of a jam, but I can't make heads nor tails of this jumble. Get hold of yourself an' start all over."

SHE brushed the golden hair back off her face and took a long breath. "I'm acting like a silly goose. I'm afraid Mr. Gillcrust was right after all. I should have stayed home and let them handle it. But I'd thought perhaps if I was on the spot— But I keep forgetting—you don't know Mr. Gillcrust."

"Gillcrust—my attorney?" "But hell's hinges! What does a nice young girl like you want go gittin' mixed up with a bunch of dang—"

"Oh, dear!" she sighed desperately. "I'm not telling it very well, am I?"

"Might help," Tubac granted, "if I knew who you was wastlin' with in that alley—"

"Oh! That horrible Carlin! Honey Hair shivered. "Mr. Haines says I've got to marry him—"

"Who? That ape? The devil you have!"

"But Mr. Haines says he'll send me to State's prison—"

"Aw—no," tucked in Tubac sardonically. "Mister Haines is a gentleman."

Sue gulped, and through her long lashes she peered up at Tubac reproachfully. "If you're going to throw that up to me—"

"Well, you can't say I didn't warn you," Jones couldn't resist reminding her; but Sue's shoulders got to shaking again, so he put out an arm to steady her and was considerably amazed to find how snug she fitted into it. Why, she wasn't no bigger than a wasp, it seemed like.

"Say!" he muttered, remembering like Shallet. "We better get a wiggle on. Wait here till I get a horse for you—"

"Oh, but—"

"No buts about it! You're goin' out to the ranch with me, an' the quicker we git there the better!"

Easter is Well Observed in Youngsville

Youngsville, April 27—The earliest of Youngsville Easter church services was at 6 a. m. Easter morning when a sunrise praise and prayer service was held in the Free Methodist church. Easter was also remembered in the church school and the 11 a. m. worship service with an Easter message by the pastor.

The first service in the Methodist church was conducted by the Christian young people of the community at 7 a. m. with representatives of each of Youngsville's four churches taking part in the service.

Miss Shirley Johnson opened the service with soft piano music suitable for the Easter spirit and acted as pianist through the service. The Scripture reading and opening prayer were given by James Thompson. Announcement of the program was made by Miss Dorothy Jack.

The program was challenging based on the hymn by Mason "Are You Able". The following speakers used a verse from this hymn for their discussion of the challenge of Christianity today, Miss Elizabeth Husted, George Kay Donald Hauptin and Mrs. Kenneth Dinney. A solo was sung by Miss Norma See and several hymns were used in the service. Which closed with the benediction by Rev. Dwight Jack.

At the Methodist morning service a class of eleven young people were received into the church, the pastor brought an Easter message and Miss Barbara Knapp sang as a solo "The Holy City." A special Easter offering for world service was taken.

In the United Brethren church at the morning services there was an Easter message by the pastor and a baptismal service when four infants were baptized. A member was received into the church at this service. A special collection was received for a new sidewalk. Announcement was made of the Sunday Anniversary Day of next Sunday May 2nd when the young people of the United Brethren church will have charge of the evening service.

Three beautiful Easter cantatas were presented Easter Sunday in Youngsville. The Saron Lutheran choir of eighteen voices presented at 4 p. m. the Cantata "He That Liveth", in the Lutheran church under the direction of Miss Lillian Swanson.

Special features of the cantata were the quartet, "Seven Last Words", Lillian Swanson, Katherine Vancider, Edolph Johnson and Gordon Clark. Men's chorus with bass obligato by Willis Johnson; tenor solo Edolph Johnson; soprano solo, Jessie Peterson; duet by Patty McKinney and Janice Abraham. Following the benediction the three fold amen was sung.

In the United Brethren church at 7:30 p. m. the Cantata "The Glorious Galilee" was sung by the U. B. choir of twenty-one voices and directed by Rev. Charles McIntyre. Solos and special numbers were given by Mrs. Vivian Gilliland, Miss Treva McKinney, Miss Helen Melan, Miss Audress Smith, Max Gilliland and Plummer Mourer.

The Methodist choir of thirty voices directed by Freeman Brown sang the cantata "Calvary" by Henry Wessel at 7 p. m. Easter Sunday. Much of this is chorus work and group singing. Those taking solo and special parts were Rev. Dwight Jack, Donald Hauptin, Miss Lois Sellin, Vernon Jones, Miss Barbara Knapp, Miss Betty Myers, Mrs. John Carr Mrs. Pearl Hendrickson, Miss Norma See and Mrs. Thomas Wise.

Each of the three cantatas showed careful preparation, and were impressive and inspirational with appreciative congregations at each of the churches.

FUNERAL HELD FRIDAY

Funeral services for N. G. Young were conducted Friday, April 23rd at the family home by Rev. Charles McIntyre with interment in the Stillson Hill cemetery. Those attending the funeral services from away were Sgt. Sidney Davis from Arkansas and Sgt. Stanley Davis from Indiana. Both of these grandchildren are in military service. Others in attendance were Miss Ruth Davis Cleveland, O.; Mrs. Dorothy Peterson, Corry; Gerald McKinney and daughter of Jamestown, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry O'Donnell of Warren.
